Cygnar

Major Beth Maddox

Cryx

Bane Witch Agathia

— A battle brews for control of the black ruins...

The mysterious ruins of a long-abandoned temple were discovered in a forest, its black masonry in rubbles but for an inexplicable set of walls and four stairways. The stairs all led to the outer wall; but the central wall forms a barrier splitting the temple in two. Why would a temple be split in two?

The Cryx and Cygnar armies arrived at the same time, seeking powerful runes said to be singing somewhere within...

— Cygnar deployed first, readying for a charge from the undead Bane Warriors

Stormguard Troops deployed in front of Maj. Maddox & her warjacks Firefly & Ironclad to withstand a likely assault through the central wall from the ghostly Bane Warriors who can walk right through it!

3 Gun Mages stationed on the outer wall within range of their leader, who stayed on the ground with the others.

≡ Cryx's responds with an aggressive deployment...

Cryx deployed 3 Bane Warriors on the outer wall w/in range of the leader & others who remained on the ground poised to storm the central wall.

Satyxis Raiders stood beside Agathia, ready to receive 'Ghost Walk' & run through the central wall!

Agathia's spell channeler, Deathripper, stationed at the extreme end of her range but where it can slip around the shorter section of wall.

— Cygnar advances and sets defensive positions...

Gun Mages run forward, the three on the outer wall now staring down rushing Bane Warriors. The others including the leader, station themselves on the stairs within sight of the ground and the outer wall action.

Maj. Maddox casts a protective 'Dauntless Resolve' spell & enhances their ranges with a 'Snipe' spell.

The Stormguard runs ahead, staring down the central wall.

All three Warjacks fan out to the left to form a barrier for Maj. Maddox, who sets herself within range of all the action.

Cryx rushes again to look for first blood...

The Deathripper successfully ran into position in the corner within range of the Bane Warriors and Agathia, poised to channel spells for her if needed.

Bane Warriors race forward on the outer wall towards the Gun Mages. Their counterparts on the ground are now immediately at the wall ready to rush through it like phantoms!

 Cryx rushes again to look for first blood...

...while the Reaper races up the stairs to run along the outer wall!

Satyxis Raiders race to the central wall beside Agathia and her Slayer...
